Remy Donates to AACF to Help Industry Members Rebuild from Major Hurricanes

MCHEMRY, III. – Sept. 12, 2017 – Remy Power Products has made a $10,000 donation to the Automotive Aftermarket Charitable Foundation (AACF) to help auto care industry members rebuild in the aftermath of the recent hurricanes.

“Our hearts go out to the people who are suffering through the utter devastation caused by these catastrophic hurricanes,” said Dave Nichols, president of Remy Power Products. “We made this donation to the Automotive Aftermarket Charitable Foundation to show our support for fellow industry members who may have lost their homes, belongings and businesses, as they begin the rebuilding process.”

The AACF assists individuals and families of the automotive aftermarket who have fallen on hard times due to death, catastrophic illness, accident or disaster, and have exhausted all other available resources in maintaining a reasonable existence. In the days since the hurricane hit, the AACF has set up a program to specifically help those members of the industry who are victims of this tragic event.
